Dear Sir or Madam:

I am happy to recommend Yan Wang for a position at your firm. In fact, I give Ms. Wang a very strong recommendation with no reservations.

Ms. Wang was a student in an accelerated MBA-level Finance course that I taught and she earned an A grade. She showed an impressive ability to learn new material and handle complex numerical problems. Her analysis skills are first rate and I am confident she will fit into any group involved in sales forecasts, margin analysis, inventory management, consumer research, and marketing strategy. She is detail oriented and has strong computer skills that showed in different course projects and assignments. She also worked well with other students and showed respect for different opinions and ideas.

In sum, Ms. Wang was a pleasure to have in class and I recommend her as a potential hire. If you have any questions, you may contact me through my email address: mboldin@temple.edu, or by calling 610-945-5615.

Sincerely,

Michael D. Boldin
Assistant Professor, Finance, Fox School of Business, Temple University
