I am a freelance photographer from India. I love to do documentary work and street photography. I am also fascinated by artificial lighting techniques and tabletop shooting. I use Leica CL and Hexar AF cameras for film based work and a Canon 400D for digital. I am also conversant with post-production using Photoshop and Lightroom. My strength areas in photography are handling very dynamic situations and people in open public places, and my biggest weakness is my lack of experience in film development which I am planning to make up.
